YEAR IN REVIEW

INNOVATION • EXCELLENCE • INNOVATION • EXCELLENCE

DEAN'S MESSAGE

QSB's Year in Review is more than just a chance to look back on the highlights of the previous 12 months. Each year since 2007, we have also shared details of financial support for the school, as well as donor vignettes that highlight the power of alumni giving.

The 2013-2014 Year in Review includes another strong list of accomplishments to reflect on. You will also see that we have entered the final phase of our fundraising campaign. Thanks to the generosity of QSB's alumni and friends, the "Invest in QSB" campaign has now reached $51 million of its goal of $65 million.

Funds raised are being directed toward four strategic priorities: increasing student diversity in the Commerce program; establishing more scholarships for the full-time MBA program; attracting and retaining the best faculty; and further developing innovative teaching methods.

I'm particularly excited about this last initiative, which will enable us to revolutionize a traditional teaching tool: the case study. The Living Case initiative was developed in response to a growing student demand for technology-based learning and classroom discussions that focus on current, real-time events, driven by easy and immediate access to information. Living cases build on the latest market developments, drawing on SEC filings, analyst and news reports, social media and company information, to foster an enhanced understanding of strategic and operational decision-making and integration of activities across entire business systems.

The Living Case initiative is just one of the ways we are transforming the traditional classroom into a dynamic learning environment to provide our students with unparalleled opportunities. Your support of the school during this critical final phase of the campaign is vital in helping QSB meet its campaign goals and strengthen its leadership position in the innovative delivery of business education.

Queen's Centre for Business Venturing

Queen's Centre for Business Venturing (QCBV) supports the creation, leadership and management of new ventures. Its activities range from embedding new-venture thinking into the curriculum – including an elective course that enables students to invest monies from the TriColour Venture Fund – to providing new ventures with access to capital, and conducting applied research in business venturing.

2013/2014 Milestones

- Now in its eighth year of operation, the TriColour Venture Fund program attracted 12 students. As of April 2014, ten business plans from companies in Ottawa and Kingston had been considered for investment. The students conducted due diligence reviews on five of the plans and recommended investing in three to the Fund's Advisory Board.
- The QCBV-facilitated survey of Best Small and Medium Sized Employers (SME) in Canada celebrated its 10th anniversary. During this ten-year period, the study collected surveys from more than 120,000 employees and nearly 8,000 leaders, gaining insights into Canadian organizations' key leadership issues. The Top 50 Employers were profiled in PROFIT magazine

- Three 'Dare to Dream' student interns (one MBA and two Commerce recent graduates) received up to $15,000 for each of their new ventures.

Alumni Connections

Well after graduation, our alumni continue to have an impact on Queen's School of Business. From providing financial support, to speaking at student conferences and in the classroom, to recruiting new graduates and referring prospective students to our programs, alumni share in the school's successes and aspirations.

Staying connected

- 20 Queen's Business Club (QBC) alumni events were held in 2013-14 across Canada, the U.S. and the U.K. A seven-event launch tour for Professor Julian Barling's book The Science of Leadership attracted more than 1,000 attendees.
- 2013 marked the official return of Queen's Homecoming, which was held over two weekends in October. QSB hosted a brunch each weekend, with a total of 14 class reunions and more than 380 alumni and friends attending both events.
- QSB's outreach to alumni via social media resulted in a 235% increase in followership of @QSB – QSB's Alumni Relations' Twitter account (1,617 followers at Twitter.com/QSB). Alumni also connected through other social media channels, including:

*Double-degree international partners

Universities in bold are new partners added in 2013/2014.

Queen's School of Business funds from various sources increased 8% in the 2013-2014 fiscal year. The increase is attributable to the successful launch of Queen's Master of Management Analytics program; the recruiting strength of the Accelerated MBA for Business Graduates; and the introduction of a January start-date for the Full-time MBA program. This latter change, introduced to better synchronize with corporate hiring cycles, resulted in two FT-MBA classes being offered in the 2013/14 fiscal year, one that started in May 2013, the other in January 2014. The Commerce program continued to attract high-achieving candidates, and experienced a higher than usual conversion rate of student applicants accepting their offers to attend Queen's.

Highlights of Giving

Summary of Donations Received (2006-2014)

Donations (cash received) to the school were $7.2M in 2013-14 ($6.6M in 2012-13). The support from QSB donors, students, alumni, staff, faculty and friends is instrumental to our success. The generous support of the school's donors enabled QSB to invest in key priorities: to continue to develop leaders, accelerate thought leadership, transform student learning and to complete the expansion of Goodes Hall on budget.

Gifts by Source (2013-2014)

The philanthropic commitment of alumni, friends and corporate and foundation partners helps provide the resources required to respond to an ever-changing business landscape. Our vision is to be one of the world's most innovative and influential business schools and the investment and partnership of our supporters is essential to our future growth and success.

Invest in QSB Campaign Update

Thanks to the generosity of QSB's alumni and friends, the "Invest in QSB" campaign has now surpassed $51-million (cash and pledges) of its $65-million goal (as of July 30, 2014).

Funds raised through this campaign will allow QSB to remain at the forefront of Canadian business education, and ensure that students are given unparalleled opportunities that will guide their development into successful leaders.

We are grateful for the dedication of our loyal Campaign Cabinet Volunteers and Class Giving Coordinators who have not only given generously of their time, but also have made personal financial investments in the future of QSB.

As we approach the Campaign's end in 2016, we are proud of our accomplishments to date, the highlight of which was the completion of the new west wing of Goodes Hall in 2012. Once we reach our Campaign goal, we will be able to significantly impact the lives of our students by increasing support for scholarships and bursaries, implementing innovative teaching methods and retaining our talented professors through highly sought-after named positions.

♦QSB/Queen's faculty/staff (current and retired)

Before I started my first year in Queen's Commerce, I'd never really heard of the field of marketing. Thanks to the outstanding teaching and passion for marketing demonstrated by the late Professor Dan Monieson, I was inspired to pursue a career in this exciting field, one that ended up spanning 31 years with General Mills.

I believe that great teachers matter. Now that I'm in a position to pay it forward, I've chosen to establish a Fellowship in Marketing to help QSB retain exceptional professors. I hope this helps inspire the next generation of business leaders to find its passion through exposure to great teachers.

I am honoured to have been selected as the first recipient of the Jim Leech MBA Scholarship. This support has been instrumental in helping me pursue my MBA at Queen's. Receiving this scholarship has inspired me to continue to work hard and has strengthened my desire to contribute to society.

I truly appreciate the generosity of Mr. Leech's colleagues, business associates and family members who created this unique scholarship in honour of his retirement as CEO of the Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan.

Recognizing Annual Giving

The lists on pages 34 to 37 (Commerce) and 45 to 46 (post-graduate programs) recognize donors who contributed $1,000 or more, in cash gifts or pledge payments, to Queen's School of Business. Donors whose gifts were received after April 30, 2014 will be acknowledged in the 2014-2015 Year in Review.

Many Queen's School of Business alumni direct their gifts to support other programs and initiatives at Queen's University. These contributions are recognized annually in the University's Report of Contributions.

*QSB faculty/staff

I'm honoured to be a recipient of the Commerce 1987 Award, which has enabled me to pursue my passion for entrepreneurship and to realize my goal of studying Commerce at Queen's.

As a result of this generous financial support, I've been able to focus on my studies and participate in career- and life-enhancing extracurricular activities without having to also juggle a part-time job.

Austin Lubitz, Comm'17

Choosing to attend Queen's School of Business was the best decision I've ever made. Aside from the exceptional academic experience, what truly set QSB apart were the many opportunities to learn and grow outside the classroom — from the school's international exchange program, to student-led conferences and case competitions, to terrific professional education and networking events, many involving QSB alumni. Each of these provided not only personal and professional learning opportunities, but also strengthened the fabric of the class.

I'm grateful to QSB's faculty and staff, I'm excited for its students, both current and future, and I'm proud to count myself among such an incredible group of alumni. That's why I give.

The BCom'88 25th anniversary class reunion in October 2013 sparked countless memories of our time at Queen's. Classmates came from far and wide to reconnect, reminisce and reflect on how far we've come since our wide-eyed frosh days.

We decided that there could be no better way to mark this milestone than to establish an entrance award to give a deserving student the incalculable benefit of a Commerce education, immersed in the Queen's tradition.

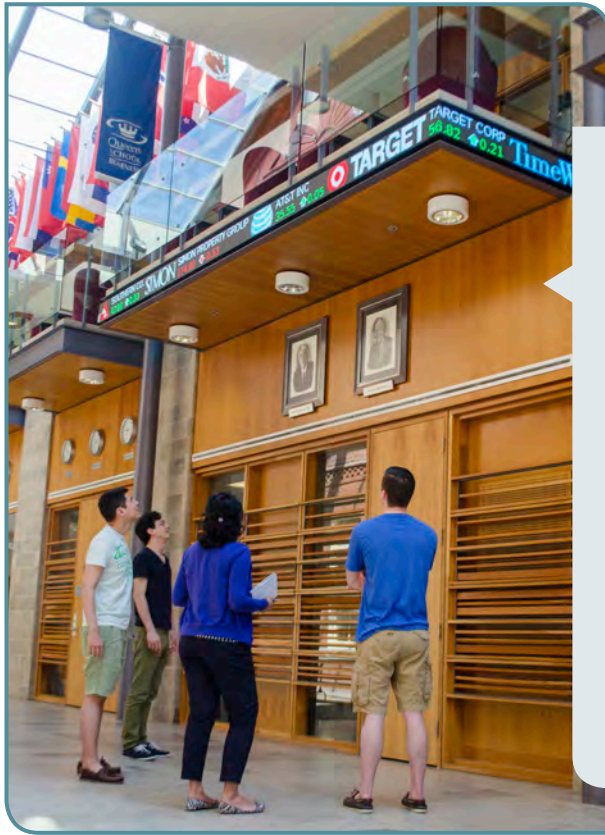

We dedicated the Commerce 1988 Award to the memory of our dear classmates Chris Verney and Margie Philp — a wonderful legacy that they would have embraced.

BCom'10 & '14 class gifts fund stock ticker in BMO Atrium

The ups and downs of the financial markets are now being tracked from the comfort of the BMO Atrium at Goodes Hall. A stock ticker, funded by COMMITment gifts raised by the BCom'10 and '14 graduating classes, was installed in May, enabling QSB students, faculty, staff and visitors to keep an eye on the stock market.

The ticker was the brainchild of the BCom'10 class, whose members contributed in excess of $10,000 under the leadership of classmates Joshua Barr and Mike Melito. The Commerce Class of 2014, led by Jordan Vandenberg and Amy Amodeo, contributed nearly $3,000 to the cause.

Commerce students pledge $1.2M to Goodes Hall expansion

Commerce students have been showing their support for the Goodes Hall expansion by agreeing to pay an optional annual fee of $97.50 that will generate $1.2 million over ten years. This initiative was spearheaded by the Commerce'08s and continues to draw wide support.

Thanks to the following 797 Commerce students, from first to fourth year, who contributed more than $77,700 to the new wing in 2013/2014.

My experiences at QSB have been life-changing. Entering the MBA Program (after an academically uninspiring undergraduate experience elsewhere), I was inspired to achieve academic success beyond my wildest dreams by such professors as Bob Crandall, the late Norm Macintosh and Carl Lawrence. Scholarships received in my second year provided financial support that made my first year of married life much easier.

Then, after a 25-year career in the high-tech sector, I was invited to return to QSB to teach. This experience has been incredibly fulfilling — the students are awe-inspiring and help keep me feeling young.

My support for QSB, both financial and through teaching, enables me to give back to the best business school in Canada, if not the world.

Class Gifts

Homecoming 2013 gift presentations

John Purkis presents the Commerce 1948 class gift to Dean David Saunders on behalf of his classmates. Continuing a long-standing class tradition, the BCom'48 gift will fund awards for students entering the first year of the Commerce program.

John Langhorne (left) and Ian Friendly present the BCom'83 class gift, which was directed toward the BCom'83 Faculty Fellowship. This year, the fellowship was awarded to Professor Laurence Ashworth to support his research on consumer psychology.

Sally Peterson and Bryan Pearson perform the honours in presenting the MBA'88 class gift, which established the MBA 1988 Scholarship for students entering the Queen's full-time MBA program.

Dan Wilton (middle) and Tracy Muxlow (right) proudly display the cheque representing their class gift, which supports the BCom'93 Award. This long-standing award helps qualified students in financial need enroll in the Commerce program.

Gifts from graduating classes

Paul Roman (left) Director of Cornell-Queen's EMBA, Nayra Otinkorang, and Si Zhu Gao, Class Valedictorian, celebrate the accomplishments of the Cornell-Queen's Executive program graduating Class of 2014 at a Convocation cocktail reception in Goodes Hall. Class Agents Nayra Otinkorang and Allison Hill motivated their classmates to give, achieving a 75% participation rate and raising a total of $35,642 within a short time period.

Amy Amodeo and Comm'14 Class President Jordan Vandenberg present their graduating class gift to Dean David Saunders at a pre-Convocation reception in June. This gift helped fund the installation of a stock ticker in Goodes Hall and supports QSB Student Exchange Awards.

To initiate or contribute to a class fund, please contact Shelley Hamill at shamill@business.queensu.ca or 855.572.1536.

A gift from an anonymous donor has made possible the introduction of the Living Case method to enhance the learning experience of our students. The Living Case approach integrates timely, real-world information into an electronic format that is extremely flexible and can be enhanced and updated as situations evolve in real time.

This September, we are excited to bring a series of living cases and real-time analytical-based exercises to our students. It's a transformative and unique teaching approach that brings relevant content into the classroom and ensures that QSB remains at the forefront of innovative teaching.

Assistant Professor Gary Bissonette, Living Case project faculty lead

Mackenzie Investments' $500,000 gift boosts student-run portfolio at QSB

The Queen's University Investment Counsel (QUIC), a student-run investment portfolio at QSB, in March received a gift of $500,000, along with mentorship support, from Mackenzie Investments, one of Canada's leading investment firms. This donation nearly doubled the assets in QUIC's portfolio, enabling more students to participate.

Founded in 2003, QUIC managed a notional investment portfolio until 2010, when QSB seeded the fund with $500,000 and the Counsel was structured as an unincorporated asset manager. The original portfolio is now valued at $693,000.

With the donation from Mackenzie Investments, QUIC will establish a second new equity portfolio, which will focus on world equities. This new portfolio will also enable QUIC to add eight positions to its current membership of 25 undergraduate portfolio managers and analysts. In addition to the financial donation, Mackenzie Investments will also provide mentorship by offering internships and staff expertise as judges and speakers at QUIC events.

Visit www.quiconline.com to learn more about QUIC, track the progress of its investments and read its 2013/14 Annual Report.

Bill Stamatis, BCom'95, Deloitte Partner (at centre), celebrates with award recipients at a reception in Toronto in May. Deloitte LLP and employees have committed $400,000 to the Deloitte Global Development Award. Pictured with Bill are third-year Commerce students (from left) Arun Thiru, Melody Zhang, Landon Bahrey, Rosana Li, Taranjit Randhawa, and Helena Li.

I was once told that experiences are the best gifts, because the memories that result endure so much longer than the lustre of new material objects. That's what I've been given—the opportunity to go on an amazing adventure on exchange to the National University of Singapore and build experiences that will create memories that will last a lifetime. I am truly grateful for the generous support of the Deloitte Global Development Award. I hope one day to be in the position to pass along a similar gift.

Arun Thiru, Comm'16
