The Program

Queen’s Commerce is a four-year immersion in the study of business.

Years One and Two cover all core business areas — from accounting to human resources management to digital business and technologies. It’s the essential foundation for a career in management.

Years Three and Four offer a range of electives so you can focus on areas of interest. You also choose electives from other faculties to broaden your skills and perspective.

Additional Opportunities

Queen’s Commerce students can complete a dual degree with the Faculty of Arts and Science in a range of subject areas.

You can earn a Certificate in Social Impact and distinguish yourself as a leader ready to tackle pressing social issues such as poverty, health care, human rights, education, civic engagement, and the environment.

“The Commerce program gives students broad exposure to the modern business environment and also enables them to pursue specific academic and professional interests. The core courses in my first two years helped build a solid foundation for my career and future studies. In third year, I was astounded at the range of options for specialization. You can really study what you’re passionate about.”

Gavriilo Randjelovic, Comm’19
A combined Bachelor of Commerce (BCom)/ Juris Doctor (JD) program allows students to complete both degrees in six years.

A 13-week Graduate Diploma in Accounting (GDA), following completion of a BCom with a focus on accounting, qualifies you to enter the final stages of Certified Public Accountant (CPA) certification.

* Most students participate in an international exchange for one semester.
Life Outside of Class

The Queen’s University campus is dynamic with many events, sports, performances, and clubs. Most first year students live on campus, where many lifelong friendships are made.

All BCom students are part of the Queen’s Commerce Society (ComSoc), the largest undergraduate business society in Canada, with close to 1,000 student-held positions. ComSoc organizes social and networking events, conferences, and competitions, including Canada’s largest and longest running business case competition.

For more information see comsoc.ca

The Experience

The Queen’s Commerce experience is unsurpassed. Small and interactive classes. Expert and engaged faculty. A uniquely strong sense of community. And great support to help you succeed.

Students come from across Canada and around the world to be part of Smith School of Business. The enthusiasm and energy at Smith helps you perform at your best.
“The Commerce Society enhances the student experience by providing opportunities outside the classroom. Students are able to explore potential career paths, and to access alumni network and recruitment sources. Plus, ComSoc creates a distinct community within the program through school spirit and charity events.

Extracurricular opportunities are a defining feature of the Queen’s Bachelor of Commerce experience. I encourage all students to find something they are passionate about and to get involved.”

Jordan Flanigan, Comm’19
President, Commerce Society, 2018-19

Alumni & Networking

Queen’s Commerce alumni are passionate about supporting the program and its students. Many participate in school events, judge competitions, fund scholarships and research, and make themselves available for advice, mentoring, and networking.

As a graduate, you join the impressive ranks of the business school’s alumni and the more than 150,000 Queen’s graduates in more than 150 countries.

“The Commerce program equips you with the tools you need to explore your interests, the confidence to pursue them, and an incredible network of staff and peers to help you get there. To me, the best part of the experience is knowing that I’ll never be without a friendly face or a helping hand.”

Claire Uhm, Comm’19
International Exchange

Queen’s Commerce students have the option of an international exchange semester in Year Three.

Living and studying in another country will broaden your perspective and allow you to develop a global network of contacts. Your international experience will enhance your career opportunities and appeal to employers.

Smith School of Business has partnerships with more than 100 prestigious business schools in 35 plus countries on six continents. From Argentina to Australia, and Spain to Singapore, partner schools are selected for the high quality of education and student experience that they deliver. The Centre for International Management at Smith assists students with planning the exchange experience.

No additional tuition fees are required for the international exchange. Students are responsible for travel and living expenses. Bursaries and scholarships are available.

For a complete list of exchange schools go to queenscommerce.ca
Even when you are not on exchange, your upper year classes will have inbound exchange students who bring diverse backgrounds and perspectives that enhance your learning experience.

“One of the main draws of the Queen’s Bachelor of Commerce program for me was the international exchange.

Spending a semester in Thailand exceeded all my expectations. By immersing myself in a culture, I was able to expand my personal and professional networks, work with cross-cultural teams, and make lifelong memories. I am so thankful to have had this opportunity.”

Leenah Gilmour-Exarhos, Comm’19 Chulalongkorn University, Thailand

Based on the Class of 2017
Admission

At Smith School of Business, we’re looking for a combination of strong academic performance and a well-rounded approach to life including demonstration of leadership and teamwork skills.

Admission is a two-stage process with academic records reviewed first and then assessment of the Personal Statement of Experience (PSE). Once the minimum academic requirements are met, the admission decision is based on the assessment of the PSE.

Personal Statement of Experience
Application to the Queen’s Bachelor of Commerce requires the writing and submission of the PSE. This is designed to provide more insight into your capacity, capabilities, and interest in the study of business.

We are looking for students with demonstrated involvement in their school and community. This can come from community involvement, sports, family responsibilities, volunteering, music, hobbies, or part-time work. The PSE questions are provided during the application process.

Ontario Students
Application to Queen’s Bachelor of Commerce is made through the Ontario Universities’ Application Centre (OUAC) ouac.on.ca

The minimum average mark requirement is 87%. This average is based on six courses including English 4U, Calculus and Vectors 4U, an additional 4U math course, as well as the best three 4U or 4M courses (no more than two 4M courses from any discipline will be used in the calculation). English and Math grades must be a minimum of 80%.

Out-of-Provence Students
Details of admission requirements for non-Ontario students can be found at queensu.ca/admission

Smith School of Business

Smith School of Business at Queen’s University is renowned for its excellence, innovation, and leadership in business education.

From establishing the first undergraduate business degree a century ago to creating groundbreaking programs and courses in emerging areas including artificial intelligence, fintech, analytics, cultural diversity, team dynamics, social impact, and more, Smith is at the forefront of preparing you for the business marketplace. In addition to its rich tradition of academic and teaching excellence, Smith is known for delivering an outstanding learning and development experience.

We are accredited by both the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB) and EQUIS through the European Foundation for Management Development. Meeting these standards places Smith School of Business among the world’s best.
Queen’s University and Kingston

Queen’s University is consistently ranked among the best in Canada and internationally. Through contributions to science, the arts, business, and government, Queen’s graduates have made indelible marks on the national and international landscape.

Queen’s has a beautiful, vibrant setting in the heart of Kingston, Ontario. It’s walkable and bikeable to great amenities, sports facilities, restaurants, music venues, theatres, and a waterfront that is a famous sailing centre. Kingston offers the best of both worlds: a dynamic, small city that’s close to Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, and major U.S. centres.

The Facility

Smith School of Business is based at Goodes Hall, a state-of-the-art learning environment on the campus of Queen’s University. It supports many modes of learning – team projects, breakouts, lectures, and living business case challenges – as well as events, speakers, conferences, and competitions.

Queen’s University has extensive residence and off-campus living options, and great athletic and recreation facilities, galleries, theatres, libraries, study and social spaces.
